CALL FOR PAPERS

Papers to be presented at the AAAS Meetings in Dallas, Texas, December 26-31, 1968 in the sections of the Animal Behavior Society should be submitted on the Transmissal Blank of the ASZ enclosed with this Newsletter. Please follow the instructions on this transmissal form. Be sure your abstract goes to John G. Vandenberg, N. C., Department of Mental Health, Box 7599, Raleigh, N. C. 27602, as indicated. Please note the DEADLINE for the receipt of abstracts and titles is SEPTEMBER 6, 1968. This gives you little time. Hurry. The deadline provides no latitude for late papers. An abstract reprint order form accompanies this Newsletter and should be mailed to Mrs. Mary Wiley, Box 2739, California Lutheran College, Thousand Oaks, California 91360. Please DO NOT send reprint requests to the Program Officer.

NOTICE--Contrary to information on the Transmissal Form, NO projection equipment at the AAS meetings for 3-1/4 x 4" lantern slides will be provided. Only 2 x 2 projection equipment will be routinely available. Upon request 16 mm sound film and a 10 x 10" Viewgraph (overhead) projector will be made available.

THE ANIMAL BEHAVIOR SOCIETY will hold paper sessions at the 19th Annual AIBS Meeting at Ohio State University, September 3-7, 1968. Registration and Housing information for these meetings is included in the recent issues of Bioscience. The Business Meeting of the ABS will be held during these meetings--at 5:00 p.m. on September 5 (Thursday).

TWO SYMPOSIA should enliven the Dallas meeting. J. P. Scott and Basil E. Eleftherion are organizing a one-day symposium on "The Physiology of Fighting and Defeat". The second symposium will have five sessions lasting four days and an international coterie of participants. Its title is: "The Use of Space in Animals and Man", organized by A. H. Esser.

ANIMAL BEHAVIOR BIBLIOGRAPHY--Requests for reprints have far exceeded available copies. The author will order a new supply from the journal to satisfy these requests. It will now be possible to order class quantities at 10¢ per reprint or to request additional complimentary personal copies. Please send requests promptly c/o N. M. Jessop, Department of Biology, California Western University, 3902 Lomaland Drive, San Diego, California 92106. Those who are awaiting acknowledgement of their earlier requests please forgive the delay.

THE BORDEN AWARD for 1967, for the Poultry Science Association, has been given to Dr. Alphaeus M. Guhl, Professor of Zoology at Kansas State University, one of the founders of the Animal Behavior Society. Dr. Guhl is distinguished as a pioneer in animal behavior research and as an authority in the social and sexual behavior of chickens. The Poultry Science Association cited Dr. Guhl as exemplifying the highly competent investigator respected for his basic research contributions as well as his ability to interpret and communicate these results to non-scientist and to stimulate students to undertake advanced studies and research. Congratulations Al.

CORRECTION: The ABS Local Representative to the AAAS is E. O. Wilson of Harvard University, and not as printed in the May Newsletter.

CHANGES OF ADDRESS: Please send your change of address directly to the ABS Treasurer, Dr. Paul B. Siegel, Department of Poultry Science, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Virginia 24061. Your attention in this matter will expedite your receiving ANIMAL BEHAVIOUR, ANIMAL BEHAVIOUR MONOGRAPHS and the ABS NEWSLETTER.

THE GROWTH OF THE ANIMAL BEHAVIOR SOCIETY benefits all members. See that the membership application forms, mailed with the May Newsletter, get into the hands of interested colleagues and students.

THE NEWSLETTER will bring to the notice of the members of the ANIMAL BEHAVIOR SOCIETY items of interest to its members; job opportunities, graduate programs, new publications, meetings, etc. Communications should be sent to the Editor, address above.
